Bri'liant Soldiers Meet

On the railway station last night, after the arrival of the Sydney train, there was a galaxy of fighting men—Private Jackson, V.C., D.C.M.; Lieutenant M'Kenzie, M.C.; and Sergeant Bortzelle, D.C.M., M.M. Jackson and lost an arm, and Bortzelle a leg; and portion of M'Kenzie's skull was artificial. Jackson was in civilian clothes. Recently he acquired an hotel at Wollongong, and he passed through Newcastle on a visit to Singleton. Bortzelle, a Frenchman and an Anzac, was accompanied by Lieutenant Roddes. Both are special recruiting speakers from Sydney, together with another—Sergeant Watkins. M'Kenzie, with Lieutenant M'Carthy (recruiting officer) met them all at the station.

Opposite the recruiting depot an hour later, when Bortzelle was speaking, was another D.C.M.—Corporal Payne, who was collecting for the League of Honor day.

The rally at the depot was successful, eight men volunteering. The speakers were Lieutenants M'Kenzie speakers were Lieutenants M'Kenzie and Roddes, Sergeants Bortzelle and Huntley, Trooper Squires and Mr. I. Reginald Cohen.
