

A RUSSIAN'S DEATH.

SYDNEY, Saturday.—The finding of the body of a Russian named Matrofan Koropets in the Domain on Thursday morning with a bullet wound in the head has received the close attention of the police. As the result of inquiries it is believed that the deceased committed suicide. Koropets, who returned from the front about seven months ago, was discontented, and was heard to remark that he would not work again for a capitalist. When last seen he was in a despondent mood.
